Daisy Lovely trained as a make-up artist at one of the most famous schools in Hollywood.

Her hobby is to create collections of images of females that constitute outstanding examples of make-up and photographic artistry.

Sometimes, for example in figure studies, minimal to no make-up is appropriate. Accordingly, her books also contain images whose beauty derives solely from the photographer's skill with lighting. In such cases, the model has been painted with light rather than with cosmetics. All of the images in this Vol. 3 are in this category of having been expertly painted with light.

This Vol. 3 consists of Daisy Lovely's second collection in which the prop is water, but in this volume all the images are low-key.

As in Vols. 1 and 2, the organization of this Vol. 3 is simple: Each page consists of one high-definition image plus a link to the portfolio of the expert photographer who created it.

Daisy's hope is that readers will enjoy viewing this collection of low-key images as much as she has enjoyed creating it and then periodically viewing it on her HDTV after downloading from Amazon the appropriate Kindle app for her computer.
