Ride along with Junior and and his pony Dot as they experience the ranch and growing up. Growing up seems to bring about a bunch of changes: some good, some bad, and some sad, but all necessary to becoming a true cowhand. Dot, a beautiful Paint Pony is left to find her new mission in life when Junior moves on and finds it in the most unexpected place.

b~About the Series~

Written from the perspective of Dot, a beautiful black and white paint pony, the "A Pony Named Dot" series retells the tales of Junior and Sis as they explore the JS Ranch. From roping to show jumping, brandings to county fairs, Dot sees and experiences the life lessons of growing up a family ranch horse. Every horse owner can relate and just has to change the name "Dot" to their own first horse to feel like the story is theirs. Written at a second-grade reading level and comprehension, but styled to be read to children and for adults as well, every home and heart will fall in love with the little black and white Pony Named Dot.

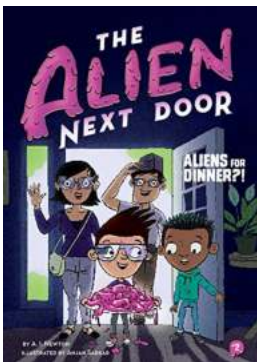

~About the Authors~

Fehrin Mae and Mataya LaRae grew up on their small family ranch just outside of Fruitdale, SD, a town with a population of 76. They both love riding the pastures and plains on all the horses their family has. Despite ten years and a hundred miles that separate them, Mataya and Fehrin are not only great sisters, but wonderful friends. When together, you can often find them saddled up English loping through the pastures or training on some young horses at the local jackpots. Both can draw and write wonderfully and have found a way to combine their talents to bring to life their family stories. Their greatest dream is that "A Pony Named Dot" will bring joy to all who read them and find their way onto the bookshelves in every horse-loving home.
