The brainchild behind History Pals is renowned author, Lisa Johnson. With her expertise in historical research and love for storytelling, she wanted to create a series that would captivate readers and make history relatable to modern-day life.

After months of brainstorming, Lisa Johnson came up with the brilliant idea of having famous historical figures jump through time portals and into the lives of ordinary people. Thus, History Pals was born, and Benjamin Franklin became the first Pal to embark on an exciting adventure.

A Whirlwind Tale: Ben Franklin In My Bathroom

"Ben Franklin In My Bathroom" is the first book in the History Pals series, and it takes readers on an incredible journey through time. The protagonist, a young boy named Alex, discovers a magical time portal inside the bathroom of his grandparents' house.

One day, while brushing his teeth, Alex accidentally activates the portal, transporting Benjamin Franklin from the 18th century into the 21st century. Startled but intrigued, Alex befriends Ben Franklin and together they embark on an adventure to uncover the history behind some of America's greatest inventions.

From flying kites to discovering electricity, Ben Franklin's wit and wisdom shine through as he guides Alex into unraveling the mysteries of the past. The book seamlessly weaves historical facts with fictional elements, creating an immersive experience for readers of all ages.

The Interactive Experience

To enhance the reading experience, the "Ben Franklin In My Bathroom" book includes QR codes that allow readers to access additional content related to each chapter. These codes lead readers to informative videos, interactive quizzes, and virtual tours, making history come alive like never before.

Imagine watching a video of Ben Franklin explaining the science behind his famous kite experiment or taking a virtual tour of his historical residence in Philadelphia. Through these interactive features, History Pals aims to create a multi-sensory experience that appeals to various learning styles.

Education Disguised as Entertainment

One of the greatest strengths of History Pals is its ability to educate without feeling like traditional learning. By blending history with imagination, Lisa Johnson manages to present historical facts in a way that sparks curiosity and encourages further exploration.

Children reading the History Pals series not only deepen their understanding of history but also develop critical thinking skills and empathy. They learn to appreciate the impact that historical figures like Benjamin Franklin had on shaping the world we live in today.

Through the adventures of Alex and Ben Franklin, readers discover how concepts and inventions from the past influence their daily lives in the present. This realization fosters a sense of connection to history and an appreciation for the world around them.

Reception and Impact

Since its release, "Ben Franklin In My Bathroom" has garnered widespread acclaim from readers and educators alike. The book has received multiple awards for its innovative approach to teaching history and its engaging storytelling.

Parents have praised the series for sparking their children's interest in history and making it a topic they actively seek to learn more about. Schools have also incorporated History Pals into their curriculum, using it as a tool to supplement traditional history lessons.

With its success, the History Pals series has expanded to include other historical figures such as Amelia Earhart, Leonardo da Vinci, and Marie Curie. Each Pal brings their own unique perspective and contributes to the overall mission of making history exciting and accessible to all.

Ben Franklin In My Bathroom History Pals is more than just a book series; it is a gateway to a world where history and imagination collide. By inviting renowned historical figures into our modern lives, Lisa Johnson has created a platform that ignites a passion for learning and makes history a living, breathing part of our daily experiences.

So, are you ready to join Alex and Ben Franklin on their time-traveling adventures? Step into the world of Ben Franklin In My Bathroom History Pals and allow the past to shape your present in extraordinary ways!

History meets hijinks in this first title in a hilarious new middle grade series for fans of Timmy Failure and The Terrible Two, when Ben Franklin accidentally time travels to a 10-year-old's home in 21st century America!

Nolan is a typical kid living in a typical 21st century American town. Ben Franklin is, well, Ben Franklin—Founding Father, inventor of the lightning rod and bifocals, and more. When, through a bizarre set of circumstances, Nolan and his little sister, Olive, find Ben in their house, chaos isn't far behind.

From introducing him to the toaster to taking him to the public library (another Ben invention) to preventing a nosy neighbor from blowing Ben's cover, Nolan does his best to be Ben's tour guide to the new world he helped form.

With tons of funny illustrations throughout—plus graphic novel-style sections interspersed—readers will love adventuring alongside this awesome threesome.

“What a smart, funny, action-adventure! This is bursting with great heart, fascinating history, and Ben Franklin’s stinky feet. I want more, more, more of this series.” —Jon Scieszka, author of the Frank Einstein series

“This book is absolutely electric—inventive, funny, and fascinating! Ben Franklin himself would approve!” —Lincoln Peirce, author of the New York Times bestselling Big Nate series

“This story is hilarious and heartfelt. Ben Franklin is the kind of friend any kid would like hanging out with—farts and all!” —Jeffrey Brown, author of the Lucy & Andy Neanderthal series
