Jack Oakie's forte was comedy.

He appeared in over a hundred motion pictures, mostly as a good-natured, somewhat dimwitted buffoon, and often in his early films, in a college setting. Although he co-starred with the likes of Clara Bow, W. C. Fields, Bing Crosby, Alice Faye, Betty Grable and Doris Day, his most durable performances were in THE CALL OF THE WILD (1935) with Clark Gable and Loretta Young, and THE GREAT DICTATOR (1940) in which he spoofed Benito Mussolini to Charlie Chaplin's Adolph Hitler. That role earned him an Academy Award nomination for "Best Supporting Actor".
