Materials Needed

To create the Flower Basket Panel, you will need the following materials:

- Yarn of your choice (preferably cotton or a cotton blend)
- Crochet hook suitable for your chosen yarn
- Tapestry needle
- Scissors

Instructions

1. Begin by creating a foundation chain that measures the desired width of your panel. The length of the panel can be adjusted to fit your needs.

2. After creating the foundation chain, work the first row using double crochet stitches. The number of stitches in this row will determine the overall width of your panel.

3. From the second row onwards, follow the charted pattern for the Flower Basket Panel. Each square on the chart represents a double crochet stitch, while the empty squares represent chain stitches.

4. Continue working rows according to the chart until the desired length of your panel is achieved.

5. Once you have completed the charted pattern, finish off your work by working a final row of double crochet stitches.

6. Weave in any loose ends with a tapestry needle and trim the excess yarn with scissors.

7. You can block your finished panel by wetting it gently and pinning it to a flat surface to ensure that it retains its shape.

The Flower Basket Panel can be used in a variety of ways to enhance your home decor. Here are a few ideas:

Designed in 1921 as a pillow cover pattern, Emma Loper made it a tribute to her crafty ancestors, who made mesh lace with thread and netting for antimacassars to keep their furniture free from hair oils. Today you can use the pattern to make a pillow cover, a square doily or a wall hanging, or even use baby yarn for a light afghan.

This is not your usual scanned vintage crochet pattern. To make this pattern great for today's crocheter I wrote complete instructions, expanded the written instructions so you won't need to skip around, and made an easy to follow chart. I also changed the written instructions to use modern US crochet terms.

The only stitches you need to know to complete this lace are: chain stitch and double crochet.
