"Ghosts is the tale of Helen Alving, a widow who's haunted with the aid of using the numerous mistresses of her deceased husband and with the aid of using her son who has inherited syphilis from his philandering father. Ghosts is a scathing indictment of Victorian society wherein Ibsen refutes the belief that if one actually fulfills one's obligation in place of following one's goals then an amazing and noble lifestyle could be achieved. Scandalous in its day for its frank dialogue of venereal ailment and marriage infidelity, Ghosts stays to at the present time an extreme mental drama and sharp social criticism. "
