Getting Started

If you are new to painting with diamonds, here are some steps to help you get started:

1. Choose a diamond painting kit: There are various kits available, each with a different design, size, and level of difficulty. Consider your preferences and skill level before selecting a kit.
2. Prepare your workspace: Find a clean and well-lit area to work in. Lay out all the materials from the kit, including the canvas, diamonds, applicator tool, and wax pad.
3. Understand the symbols and color codes: Each canvas comes with a legend that corresponds to the symbols and color codes of the diamonds. Familiarize yourself with these codes to avoid confusion later.
4. Start from the bottom: It is recommended to begin from the bottom of the canvas and work your way up. This ensures that the diamonds don't get smudged or displaced while you work.
5. Place the diamonds: Dip the applicator tool in the wax pad to pick up the diamonds. Place each diamond on the corresponding symbol on the canvas. Repeat the process until the entire canvas is covered.
6. Secure the diamonds: Once you have placed all the diamonds, gently press them down with a rolling pin or the flat side of the applicator tool. This ensures that the diamonds stick firmly to the canvas.
7. Frame your artwork (optional): After completing the painting, you can choose to frame it for display. This adds a finishing touch to your masterpiece.
