After more than 20 years, the Bronco's back. Built on a platform that will also underpin the next Ranger midsize truck, the 2021 Ford Bronco picks up where its predecessor left off, as an off-road-oriented, body-on-frame SUV. Ford will offer the 2021 Bronco in two forms: a two-door and larger four-door version—just like the Jeep Wrangler. To better compete with that icon, the Bronco will offer removable doors, windows, and roofs on both body styles.
