Discover 380 adorable dog-themed stitch motifs, along with step-by-step techniques, templates, and project ideas for capturing your favorite pooch.

Created by embroidery artist MakikoArt and six other amazing embroidery artists, this fanciful collection of stitch motifs celebrates all things canine, with a wide variety of breeds represented.

With this lovely embroidery guide, you can create all manner of pups in embroidery and cross stitch, including:

- Dogs in costumes to celebrate holidays throughout the year: Halloween, Easter, and Christmas.
- Sporty pups skateboarding, parachuting, and ice skating, and dogs who are getting stuff done, like fetching the newspaper, carrying groceries, and holding a bone.
- Dogs doing what they do best—classic poses, postures, and tricks—including “roll over,” “give me your paw,” and the ever-popular “rub my tummy”
- Pooches disguised as people—the farmer, the artist, the businessman—and the sneaky but lovable mailman!
- Mutts stitched with unique accents, such as borders, frames, and alphabets

You’ll also find guidance on how to customize a motif to fit your favorite Fido, plus a gallery of project ideas for showcasing your stitches. Grab a needle and some floss and transform your home and wardrobe from drab to double-dog fabulous!

"Performative Acts and Gender Constitution: An Essay in Phenomenology and Feminist Theory"

What does it mean to perform gender? In this essay, Judith Butler explores the ways in which gender is not a fixed, essential quality, but rather a performative act. She argues that gender is constituted through the repetition of certain acts and behaviors, and that these acts are always already in question. This essay is a key text in the development of queer theory and has influenced a wide range of academic and popular culture discussions.
