The Bible remains the best guide to visit this beautiful and troubled country. The Land is constantly compared to the Book and the Book to the Land and it is not known whether one is the illustration of the other or the contrary. Here, we celebrate their consonance; there, we are dismayed by their dissonance. We often succumb to baffling and biting disappointment, resulting from the disparity between the greatness of the Biblical memories and the shabbiness of the sites: "Palestine", declared a great traveler, "is a library of Revelation engraved in stones."

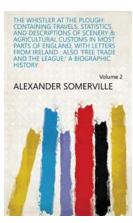

Sites and Sources offers a wide audience the sources, narratives and legends in which the sites in the land of Israel are stepped.
