Pat Batt is a name, recognised in Scottish dancing circles as being synonymous with humorous, incisive poetry. Her ditties were based on personal dancing experiences and observations which she put into rhyme for her and our pleasure. When first published in pamphlet form she received requests for them from all over the world. Go to a dance, tea party or ceilidh and you will invariably hear one of her poems recited.

Pat herself enjoyed life. She had the ability to transmit her enthusiasm and zest for life to those she met. She always had a twinkle in her eye. This positive attitude to life is reflected in her poems. It has been said that reading one of her poems daily is like taking a tonic. Enjoy.
