Most holiday hot spot areas progressively seem to plod by; perhaps getting a little better with time as one would imagine, or at least with a noticeable yearly difference! . . . Whereas, Pattaya’s continuation of dramatic improvement continues every couple of months day after day since those meager beginning’s (way back) in the 1950s, as the figurative ball started to roll - at a time when the area was a one-time, small and unknown, concise fishing village with distant memories of mere fields of wilderness in a country (to date) continuously remaining free as a non-colonized kingdom - unlike many of its neighbors. Then suddenly 2020 became one of the worst years in world history as COVID-19 changed everything with great rapidity as Pattaya’s tourism was crucially wiped apart, possibly never returning to normality.
