The Benefits of RV Camping

RV camping has seen a significant surge in popularity since the pandemic hit, and for good reason. It offers a safe and socially-distanced vacation option, allowing you to limit interactions with others while still enjoying a much-needed getaway. With your own self-contained living space, you have the freedom to create a safe environment for you and your loved ones.

When RV camping, you can easily adhere to the necessary health and safety guidelines, as you have full control over your accommodation, dining options, and travel routes. Whether you own an RV or decide to rent one, you'll have the flexibility to explore Upper Michigan at your own pace, while having all the comforts of home at your fingertips.

Choosing the Right Campground

Upper Michigan boasts a wide range of campgrounds suitable for RV camping. From rustic public campsites to modern, full-service RV resorts, there's something for every type of camper. When selecting a campground during the Covid era, it's important to consider factors such as available amenities, campground capacity, and safety protocols.

Look for campgrounds that have taken additional precautions to ensure the safety of their guests. This can include enhanced cleaning procedures, contactless check-in, and reduced capacity to allow for more spacious camping setups. By choosing a campground that prioritizes safety, you can have peace of mind throughout your stay.

Exploring Upper Michigan's Natural Wonders

One of the main draws of RV camping in Upper Michigan is the opportunity to immerse yourself in its unparalleled natural beauty. From the majestic shores of Lake Superior to the breathtaking Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, there are countless natural wonders to discover.

Take a hike through the dense forests of Hiawatha National Forest or visit the mesmerizing Tahquamenon Falls State Park. Enjoy a scenic drive along the shores of Lake Michigan and marvel at the stunning sunsets. Upper Michigan's vast outdoor playground is sure to satisfy every nature enthusiast's cravings.

Outdoor Activities for Every Adventurer

Whether you're a thrill-seeker or prefer a more relaxed pace, Upper Michigan offers a wide array of outdoor activities to suit everyone's preferences. Kayaking or canoeing on one of the many serene rivers and lakes is a popular choice, providing tranquility and a chance to spot local wildlife.

If you're into fishing, Upper Michigan has some of the best fishing spots in the Midwest. Cast your line in Lake Superior or the numerous inland lakes and rivers, and you may just reel in the catch of a lifetime. Hiking, biking, and bird-watching are also popular activities that allow you to fully immerse yourself in the region's natural splendor.

Covid-Safe Recommendations

While RV camping in Upper Michigan offers a relatively safe vacation option during the pandemic, it's important to take necessary precautions to protect yourself and others. When visiting local communities, follow their specific Covid protocols, wear a mask, and practice social distancing.

Stock up on essential supplies and groceries before heading to your campground to minimize the need for unnecessary trips to town. Plan your activities in advance and check for any closures or limitations due to Covid restrictions.

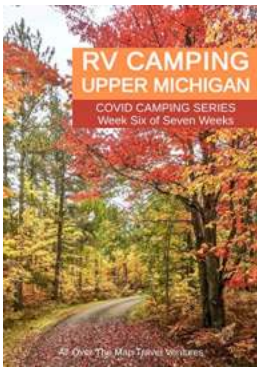

A Memorable RV Camping Experience

RV camping in Upper Michigan offers the perfect opportunity to create cherished memories with your loved ones. Spending quality time in the great outdoors, disconnected from the digital overload, and surrounded by nature's wonders is truly rejuvenating for the soul.

So, pack your bags, load up your RV, and embark on an adventure to Upper Michigan for a Covid-friendly camping experience you'll never forget. Discover the beauty of this hidden gem and make lasting memories that will stay with you long after your trip ends.

Social Distancing in Pure Bliss

We lived in green and watery bliss for seven weeks as we hid from the Coronavirus disease (aka COVID-19) in the vast isolation of Upper Michigan. September and October of 2020 found us trekking over the ancient lava-land jutting out from Lake Superior during the historic COVID-19 pandemic that stopped the world.

Yes, social distancing is simple when camping in a state with thousands of miles of shoreline and trees. Travel trailer camping in this Yooper territory filled our days with climbing volcanic bedrock, hiking virgin forests, kayaking glacier-formed waterways, and walking the magnificent shores of Lake Superior -- the mightiest of the Great Lakes.

Our camper is a 2020 nüCamp T@B 400 affectionately nicknamed V-Jer after an obscure Star Trek movie reference. In keeping with the NASA theme, our full-sized Ford Transit cargo van is referred to as Saturn after the Saturn V rocket that sent Apollo to the moon in 1969 and can pull up to 7,500 pounds of trailer cargo. That's more than enough for our wheel-house.

In the middle of our journey, we met up with fellow trailer campers, Tom and Babs. These guys are seasoned trippers that have just about filled up their map of visited states visually plastered on their teardrop camper.

Planning a seven-week trip in week-long-base-camp experiences allowed us to explore a variety of landscapes the UP offers, from the vast Ottawa and Hiawatha National Forests to the Keweenaw Peninsula to the Soo Locks. For me, it is with great pleasure to gather information from State Parks, National Forests, municipal parks, hiking books, youtube channels, and websites that successfully result in full-days of outdoor fun-in-the-sun activities. Now, all of that information is available in a set of easy-to-read books featuring MapPages for each activity and campground.

At-a-glance, grab our book and head out for a perfect day-hike or pack for a 7-week peninsula pilgrimage. Each book features a listing of the trails, lakes, road trips, campgrounds, campsites, and fees (if any). A Table-of-Contents makes it easy to select a destination.

It's that easy. If you find you're only interested in a specific area of Upper Michigan, go to our website www.alloverthemaptravelventures.net and download free printable PDF trail maps to your mobile device for offline viewing. Be sure to print a backup to stay aware of your location no matter how isolated - whether you're in the car, on a trail, or in a kayak. Remember, cellphone signals can be weak while exploring remote areas, so bring along the corresponding RV Camping Upper Michigan MapBook or your personal printouts, and have fun.

For your preview, we have included a sampling of each week's activities.

Week One starts in northern Wisconsin: Conover/Phelps Bike Trail, Fallison Lake Trails, Muskellunge Lake, Razorback Ridges, Sylvania Wilderness, Clark Lake Trail, Crooked Lake, Agonikak Bike Trail.

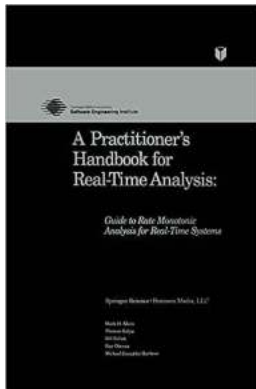

Week Two: Black River Harbor, Presque Isle River Area, Lake of the Clouds, Ontonagon, Black River Trail, Waterfalls Loop Trail, Copper Peak Ski Jump.

Week Three: Fort Wilkins RV Park, Copper Harbor Camp, Lac La Belle/Bete Grise, Fort Wilkins, Horseshoe Harbor Trail, Estivant Pines Forest, Houghton, Hancock, Linden.

Week Four: Sturgeon River Camp, Van Riper State Park, Baraga State Park, Silver Mountain, Sturgeon River Gorge, Marquette, Canyon Falls, Presque Isle, Van Riper Trails, Lake Michigammi.

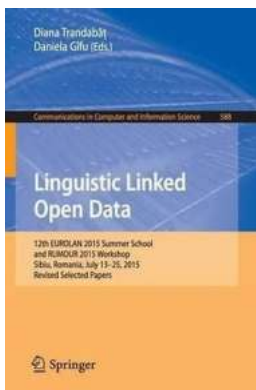

Week Five: Bay Furnace Camp, Au Train, Munising, Miners Falls, Miners Castle, Mosquito Falls, Pictured Rocks, Lakenenland Art, Munising Falls, Kingston Lake, Twelvemile Beach, Au Sable Lighthouse, Seney Wildlife Range, Fox River Trail, Sand Point Marsh Trail (and more).
