It was during the prestigious Olympic Trials that Emma first gained nationwide recognition. Competing against seasoned riders, she fearlessly galloped through the course, showcasing precise control and astounding speed. The crowd was in awe as Emma and her horse gracefully tackled every hurdle, earning her a spot on the national team.

However, success did not come without its challenges. Emma faced numerous setbacks throughout her career, from injuries that temporarily halted her riding to fierce competition that pushed her limits. Yet, every obstacle only fueled her determination to overcome and become stronger.

What sets Emma apart is not only her exceptional horsemanship but also her compassionate approach towards these animals. Despite her fierce competitiveness in the arena, Emma dedicates her time to rescue horses and provide them with a safe and loving environment at Smudge Shine Stables. She believes in giving back to these magnificent creatures that have given her so much joy and purpose.

The community has also recognized Emma's selflessness, awarding her the coveted "Equestrian of the Year" title for her outstanding sportsmanship and dedication to promoting equestrian culture. Emma's influence extends beyond the competition grounds, as she actively engages in clinics and workshops, sharing her knowledge and expertise with aspiring riders.

When asked about her goals for the future, Emma's eyes light up with excitement. She envisions a world where equestrian sports thrive, inspiring generations to come. Emma dreams of representing her country in the Olympics and becoming a role model for aspiring riders worldwide.

In , Smudge Shine Stables' Emma Bridge is not just an equestrian wonder but also a true embodiment of passion, perseverance, and love for horses. Her journey serves as an inspiration to all, reminding us of the profound bond between humans and these majestic equines. With Emma leading the way, the future of equestrian sports is bound to reach new heights.

Down in a valley between two hills deep in the countryside there is a small stable: Smudge-Shine Stables. Now Smudge-Shine was a very special stables because it was home to lots of different ponies and horses that needed to be kept safe because there were not many left in the world. In the biggest field at the stables were five friends. Oats the Clydesdale, Sugar the Shire, Buzby the Dartmoor Pony, Pixie the Exmoor Pony and Chips the Miniature Pony. They were looked after by the Littleton Family and every day visitors would come from miles around to see the rare horses and they always stopped where the yearlings were the longest. Yearlings was a fancy term the humans used for any horse under four years old. They did not know this is what they were called because they just used their names.

Come join the ponies in their adventures.
