What are Proclamation Speeches?

Proclamation speeches are formal declarations made by public figures to make an official announcement, often regarding significant events, policies, or commemorations. These speeches are carefully crafted, using the power of words to convey a particular message and influence public perception. They aim to inspire, engage, and mobilize the masses towards a collective goal or vision. Proclamation speeches can be delivered by political leaders, monarchs, or public advocates.

The Art of Crafting Proclamation Speeches

Crafting a proclamation speech goes beyond simply conveying a message. It requires careful consideration of the audience, tone, and the desired impact. The voice behind these speeches must possess the ability to grab attention, inspire emotions, and mobilize action. The art lies in creating a connection with the audience, ensuring that the message resonates deeply.

First published in 1896, “The Voice of a Great” contains a selection of the speeches, correspondence, and proclamations of the French military and political leader Napoléon Bonaparte, edited by Ida Tarbell. The book is split into five parts: “The Campaign in Italy”, “The Egyptian Expedition”, “Napoleon, First Consul”, “Napoleon, Emperor of France”, and “The Fall of Napoleon”. “The Voice of a Great” offers a fantastic insight into the mind of one of the greatest commanders in history, whose wars and campaigns are still studied at military schools the world over. Highly recommended for those with an interest in the life of Napoleon and military history in general. Ida Minerva Tarbell (1857–1944) was an American journalist, writer, lecturer, and biographer. A pioneer in investigative journalism, her 1904 book “The History of the Standard Oil Company” famously contributed to the dissolution of the Standard Oil monopoly and the of the Hepburn Act of 1906. As well as articles and exposés, she also wrote a number of biographies on historical figures, believing that their ideals and motivations could be studied in order to positively change society. Other notable works by this author include: “Madame Roland: A Biographical Study.” (1896), “The Life of Abraham Lincoln” (1900), and “Father Abraham New York” (1909). Read & Co. History is proudly republishing this classic work now in a new edition complete with an introductory chapter by Ralph Waldo Emerson.
